

Every planner here is in saturation

Grey is the demand the arrival process released; blue is what got delivered. Nothing serves most of its demand, which is why throughput measures capacity here and service time does not.

